FAST WOMAN.—A letter from burg, a famous watering place ermany, has the following:
"Honne here now who plays very at roulette is a Russian countess, ame Rimsky Korsakow. She has ed great excitement in Paris during ast winter by her particularly "loud" of dress which she adopts, and very free and easy manner. She is ensely rich, very handsome, and rank secures her admission into the best circles. It is said that the En-as is very jealous of her on account the attention she has attracted, and at she attempted to banish Madame msky from the court circle. She resses here very extravagantly, though with a certain kind of taste, ears immense quantities of diamonds nd very smart dresses, making a huge isplay of striped silk stockings. At he playing table she converses with he croupiers, or anybody who may be sitting next her, with the most perfect freedom. In the afternoon she may be seen in the covered walk, drinking coffee and smoking cigarettes.

Bleeding from the Nose.—Some two years ago, while going down Broadway, New York, blood commenced dropping from my nose quite rapidly. I stepped aside and applied my handkerchief, intending to return to the nearest hotel, when a gentleman accosted me saying: —"Just put a piece of paper in your mouth, chew it rapidly, and it will stop your bleeding." Thanking him rather doubtfully, I did as he suggested, and the flow of blood ceased almost immediately. I have seen the remedy tried since quite frequently, and with success always. Doubtless any substance would answer the same purpose as well as paper, the stoppage of the flow of blood being caused doubtless by the rapid motion of the jaws, and the contraction of the muscles and arteries connecting the jaws and nose.—*Culti-

CAPTURE OF A BURGLAR.—Yesterday evening a negro man brought to this city and placed in the custody of the proper authorities a negro boy named John Rhem. This John Rhem is a great rascal. He was apprenticed to Smith Harper some time since and ran away. Last County Court he was whip-under arrest for burglary. The youth will keep on, if he ever escape now, till he gets himself hanged.—*Newbern

NEW PHYSIOGNOMY, or, Signs of CHARACTER, as manifested through emperament and External Forms, and especially in the "HUMAN FACE DIVINE." One elegant volume, with nearly 805 pages, and 1,000 illustrations. By S. R. WELLS, Editor PHRENO-LOGICAL JOURNAL. Price, post paid, $5. Address: FOWLER & WELLS, No. 389 Broadway, New York.

"New Physiognomy" is eminently practical, fully illustrated, and well suited to the wants of all. In the study of "the face" the reader soon learns to read each and every feature. Noses are classified as the Roman, Greek, Jewish, Soub and Celestial. The eyes speak all languages, whether black, blue, brown or hazel. In a like manner, cheeks, neck, ear, hands, feet, walk, voice, laugh, etc., are shown to be "signs of character."

In no other work is so much light thrown upon the character and destiny of mankind as in this, or the distinctive traits of nations and tribes so clearly pointed out. Portraits of distinguished persons of ancient and modern times, with biographical sketches and delineation of character, and given, DIVINES, ORA-TORS, STATESMEN, WARRIORS, ARTISTS, POETS, PHILOSOPHERS, INVENTORS, SCIENTISTS, DISCOVERERS, ACTORS, MUSICIANS, etc., are included. It is an "Encyclopedia" of biography, acquainting the reader with the career and character of many great men and women of the past 1,000 years, and of the present—such, for instance, as Aristotle, Julius Caesar, Shakespeare, Washington, Napoleon, Franklin,

Lawrence, Bolivar, Whately, Thackeray, Dow, Knorr, Richelieu, Hopper, Buckle, Dickens, dreds of others. AGENTS WANTED. Book sent

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife—pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.

THE EXPRESSION OF THE EYE.

And how much, I cannot help asking, does the eye itself go for in all this?

The quivering contraction of a momentary brightening up which goes with the quick perception of a jest, the little half-developed thought of suspicion crossing the mind, the kindling of a generous impulse, or of a swift surprise, all things affect more or less that wonderful expression—machinery which we have been considering, and set it all in motion. No doubt the eyeball itself is affected in these cases of transient feelings; but here I think it will again be found that the element which this organ contributes in the shape of expressiveness is motion, or little else. It moves swiftly and suddenly as each different feeling asserts itself in the face, and by such movement—movement not change—helps to enforce the expression of the moment. This is a point to make—the eye moves, but the surroundings of the eye change.

I believe that I may be even underating the effect of these surroundings. Consider in the case of an animal, the effect of the ears even on the expression of the eyes. The ears laid back or pricked forward, make the eyes look vicious or intelligent as the case may be; and with animals again we find that what expression there is in the eyes itself is still given by moment. A glimpse of the white of the eye on this side or that of the great pupil will produce a wonderful change. The eye turned back in a horse, showing a portion of the white in the inner corner, imparts a look of nervousness and terror which makes us mistrust the animal in whom its phenomenon is observed, and think twice before we get upon its back.

And if the encourage—a French word which we want, and which can only be translated "neighborhood" or "surroundings"—if the surroundings of the eye have so much to do with its expression, how much more are they inseparable from its loveliness? People talk of a beautiful eye. Why, almost every eye, as far as the eye itself goes, is beautiful. The pupil, with its exquisitely true, yet softened edge, tinted so perfectly, whatever its color may be, and losing in the impetuous central spot, in itself a beautiful object as it lies in the pearly white of the eyeball. But how much does this go for if the eye apertures through which we see it, is small and ill-shaped, if the lid is wrinkled and unsymmetrical, surrounded by heavy lumps of flesh and by an ugly and malformed eyebrow? It goes for nothing. The eye may be a beautiful object in itself, but it is not beautiful to us because all these surrounding parts are ugly.

They play at a game in France in which certain members of a company are entirely concealed with the exception of their eyes—every thing is hidden except the eye itself—and it is the business of the rest of the company to identify the concealed person simply by their eyes. One who had played at this game told me the difficulty of such identification is incredibly great, and he himself was unable to find out his own wife when thus concealed. More than this it happened that on one occasion a lady, celebrated for her beauty, and especially distinguished by her fine eyes, la Duchesse de M—, was drawn out engaging in this pastime, there being only the other person hidden besides herself, and this an old gentleman not for his eyes. The pair were duly concealed and bandaged up with nothing but their eyes visible, and the person (a lady) who was to declare to whom the respective eyes belonged was introduced. Without a moment's hesitation she walked up straight to where the old gentleman was placed and exclaimed, "Ah, there is no one but la Duchesse de M— who can boast such eyes as these." She had made the choice, and it was the wrong one.

While three little boys were amusing themselves with a toy cannon in New Orleans on Monday, October 1, one of them put a ball or something missile into the little gun, and fired it in the direction of his mother, not dreaming of the injury it might do. The missile entered the mother's right side, and penetrating the heart, as almost immediately fatal. The little boys were brothers from nine to thirteen years of age, and the mother had her younger child, not three months old, in her arms at the time. The babe was not injured.

A woman 70 years of age died in the Portland almshouse last week. She was crossed in love in her youth and made a vow, which she religiously kept, never to speak again. From that time until death, a period of 35 years, she has not uttered an intelligible word.

At the fair in Norwalk, Conn. last week was a coop containing a rooster and five or six hens, all in the gayest of plumage—red, white and blue, yellow, green, purple &c. The colors, however, were all artificial, save the white, and were put on at the Norwalk Dye works.

OUR FORTUNE TELLER.

As a great many well-meaning but over-curious young people, unwilling to await the unrolling of the scroll of fate by the slow but certain of time, are throwing away their stamps upon impostors who pretend to be astrologists and readers of the future through the medium of the stars we have thrown into a condensed form the whole theory of the art of fortune-telling, by the careful study of which any lady or gentleman can become a proficient. Our system is infallible, and, as will be perceived, is gotten up after the style of the almanac, and, we assure our readers is fully as reliable as that interesting annual.

JANUARY—The child born in this month will not be ushered into the world in Jan. 1st, or she will reach man or womanhood, if not live, and be of strong frame and robust health, if not weakly and ailing. They will also be come wealthy, if they happen to accumulate or inherit fortunes.

FEBRUARY—The man born in this month is born at a latter period in the year than the one born in the preceding month. He will in all likelihood be an ardent lover of woman, and will not refuse to take an occasional drink. The woman born in this month will gratefully resemble women born in other months. She will endeavor to dress in the fashion.

MARCH—The man born in this month will be handsome, if he is not ill-looking. He will be very apt to die when his time comes. The woman will be a tidy housekeeper, if she is not slovenly, and a great chatter-box, if she at all resembles the rest of the sex.

APRIL—The man born in this month will be very unfortunate, if good fortune does not prove his friend. The woman will be tickled if she runs much in the sun without her bonnet.

MAY—The man who is born in this month will have the advantage over the one born in December, inasmuch as the weather is milder. He will commence life in a cradle, and, without a chance, end it in a coffin. The woman will be very fond of reading, if she was learned her letters and takes to books.

JUNE—The man born in this month will love mint-julips, and will be a constant lover until he finds a new sweetheart. The woman wears tilters, if she have a pretty foot, a neat ankle, and a well-turned calf.

JULY—The man born in this month will be very fond of bread, meat, vegetables, and coffee, and pretty apt to eat three meals a day—if he can procure them. The woman will wear Bradley's Duplex Elliptic.

AUGUST—The man born in this month will like to swap places with Brigham Young. He will be passionate and ardent—so much of the latter that his favorite spirits will be ardent ones. The lady will marry young, if an opportunity and an eligible match present themselves.

SEPTEMBER—The man born in this month will become the purchaser of the lucky ticket in "busted up" Southern Orphans' and Widows' Relief Association, if he was foolish enough to invest in the scheme. The woman will be fond of being courted, and always singing "Kiss me quick and go, my honey."

OCTOBER—The man born in this month will come into the world in the apple gathering season. The lady will be very fond of the society of gentlemen, and very industrious, if not of a lazy disposition.

NOVEMBER—The man born in this month will just escape coming into the world in the last month of the year. The lady will be fond of pop-corn and sleighing parties. She will be always ready to pay the toll when crossing a bridge in a sleigh.

DECEMBER—The man born in this month will be apt to welcome the new year at a very early age. The woman will have very pretty eyes—if they are not "cross or squint"—and will make a "full hand" at candy-pulling.

PROSPECTUS OF THE NATIONAL INTELLIGENCER.

THIS standard Journal, founded more than half a century since, has been reorganized with an able and active corps of editors, reporters, and correspondents. It is of enlarged size, superior typography, and is published at rates comparing favorably with any other first-class paper. It has access to authentic sources of original intelligence in politics, commerce, science, and literature. The intimate intercourse between the founders of the National Intelligencer and those men who represented the extremes of opinion which have culminated in the late war proves the moderation and integrity which have ever marked its course. This intercourse and respect embraced Webster, Calhoun, Clay, and Benton. It had received the confidence of them all. The National Intelligencer is conducted scrupulously upon the principles which have ever guided it. It has lived to feel the value of moderation and national fraternity, and rejoices to perceive that the American people respect them likewise.

The Intelligencer will extend a cordial and sincere support to the beneficent policy of President Johnson. It will favor such provision for the legal and social protection of the emancipated negro, as the several States may deem just and proper. Qualified by location and sentiment to mediate between the wants of one section and the resources of another, it will advocate and aid in transferring to the South those elements of capital and enterprise indispensable to the prosperity of every community.

To enable the Intelligencer to fulfill this measure of usefulness, it respectfully asks the support to which its past moderation and sincere devotion to the common welfare entitle it. In this sense it is now offered to the public as a medium of intelligence, which cannot be surpassed by any journal published in the National Metropolis.

Large Capacity, strength and unequalled speed, simplicity and completeness of operation are qualities peculiar to THE NONPAREIL Washing Machine

It is a Squeezing Machine constructed strictly mechanical principles, and the experience derived from five years extensive use families, hotels and public institutions proves to be of lasting value to the purchaser.

The manner of operating the Nonpareil, by rotary motion acting on a crank-shaft (with balance-wheel,) which moves the plungers alternately, is the simplest, least laborious and most powerful that can be devised for the purpose, and accomplishes the work with the greatest rapidity and the least possible labor.

The great speed with which the machine performs work will be understood from the statement that it is geared to give six strokes of the plungers for one turn of the handle or, when worked leisurely, about four hundred strokes in a minute. Safety to the fabric washed is insured by the entire absence of rubbing.

A girl or boy of fifteen can work the machine and do a week's washing for a family of six or eight persons in two to three hours time; and it may be relied on to cleanse the clothing thoroughly, without assistance from hand rubbing.

Send for free Descriptive Circular and terms to dealers, to whom exclusive right of sale is secured.
